Optimality in metobolic networks

A. De Martino, S. Cocco, C. Martelli, R. Monasson and I Perez Castillo

CNR/INFM and Universita di Roma La Sapienza

00185 Roma, Italy

Abstract

We compute, both numerically and analytically (via cavity methods), the typical properties of optimal growth of large assemblies of reactants interconnected by networks of mutually catalytic interactions. Results are qualitatively robust with respect to changes of the network topology and provide means to evaluate the functionality of real chemical systems, e.g. metabolic networks.